The assignment

I Live to Lead (iL2L)'s mission is to provide leadership training to promising young girls aged 16 to 20 from all over the world to fast track them on their individual paths of growth. By equipping these girls with the necessary skills, they will be able to take on leadership roles in their communities now and "pay it forward" to others in their community. The iCAN ("I commit to act now") project was launched in Chennai, India during March 2011. Pétanque Consultancy in collaboration with Tom Mochal of TenStep, has committed to this programme by providing and designing the curriculum for Project Management training of the girls. The aim is that by schooling them in the basics of good PM, the likelihood of success in their projects increases. The project training was delivered successfully in Chennai, and as special advisors, TenStepSDO is engaged for the duration of the programme over the next year. Feedback on the training provided during the summit reflects excellent participation and a keen sense for participants to succeed in their projects.

Profile

Value of the assignment

Creating a training class to teach project management at an elementary level, focusing on being understood and applied by young girls.
