

POPI

The Protection of Personal Information

What is PoPI?

The Protection of Personal Information Act no 4 of 2013 was signed into law in November 2013. It aims to protect the Constitutional Right to Privacy by introducing measures whereby personal information processing by organisations is fair, responsible and conducted in a secure manner.

To Whom Does It Apply?

To any organisation – private or public, for profit or non-profit – that processes personal information of clients, suppliers, and/or staff.

What are the risks of Non-Compliance?

Civil liability, reputational damage and sentences of up to 10 years in prison and/or fines of up to R10 million

What does the Act Require?

Any organisation that processes personal information, as defined by the Act must:

- Assess their own privacy related risks,
- Implement effective privacy policies and practices,
- Provide evidence of the appropriateness of these to the regulator
